Nur-Sultan, the 26th of February 2020

ARRIVAL AND DEPARTURE

The list of 45 countries enjoying unilateral visa exemption to visit Kazakhstan includes the United States, European Union member states, Australia and Canada. Citizens are allowed to stay in what is Central Asia's largest country for up to 30 days without the need to register with the migration service authorities.

Starting January 10, 2020, all foreigners will not need to fill out migration cards - this document has been abolished. The necessary registration at checkpoints will be carried out by border guards.

Moreover, from January 10, 2020, foreigners do not need to visit the migration service, regardless of the length of stay in the country. These responsibilities were transferred to the host e.g. employers of medical facilities, places of rest, educational institutions, owners of hostels, hotels, rental housing, which will host foreign citizens.

According to the law, the host should register the foreign guest within three calendar days by notifying the migration service who arrived and his/her period of stay and purpose. There are several ways: through the visa-migration portal <https://www.vmp.gov.kz/en/services>, the website of the electronic government, as well as using a notification that can be submitted in writing, having come to the migration service in person.

Starting from 1 January 2017 the visa free regime was expanded for the following countries: Australia, Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Canada, Chile, Croatia, Cyprus, the Czech Republic, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Iceland, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Japan, Korea, Latvia, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Malaysia, Malta, Mexico, Monaco, Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Romania, Singapore, Slovakia, Slovenia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Vatican, the UK, the United Arab Emirates, and the USA. The citizens of the above mentioned countries may enter the territory of the country with all types of valid passports for a stay for up to 30 days. The citizens of Hong Kong SAR can enter Kazakhstan without a visa for up to 14 days.

The 72-hour transit visa free regime is open till 31 December 2020 for the citizens China and India, transiting through the international airports of Almaty, Nur-Sultan, Aktau, Shymkent, Karaganda and Taraz to a third country or returning from a third country.

The Kazakhstan Online Visa has been made available from the 1st of January 2019. Eligible citizens from 117 states can now obtain the eVisa online by receiving an invitation from the Kazakhstan side and completing the application form. This new Kazakhstan visa online will eliminate the need to obtain a conventional visa for certain nationalities <https://www.visakazakhstan.com/>.

In addition, Kazakhstan had signed the visa-free regime with a number of countries of South America as Argentina, Brazil, Chili, Colombia, Ecuador, Macao, the UAE, Oman, Saudi Arabia, Singapore, Korea, and the UN. The MFA of Kazakhstan increased the visa-free regime countries number up to 52 (<http://mfa.gov.kz/en/content-view/visa-regime-of-kazakhstan-with-other-countries>).

Swiss businessmen visiting Kazakhstan for more than 30 days need apply for a visa. Passports should be valid for at least three months after the visa expiration date. The most popular visas are investor, business and work visas. These visas are issued for one, two or multiple entries depending on their categories and are valid for up to three years.

Visas are issued by Kazakhstan consular establishments (e.g., the Consular Department of the Embassy of Kazakhstan in Bern (Melchenbühlweg 79, 3006 Bern, phone: 031 351 79 69, fax: 031 351 79 75 and e-mail: embassy@kazakhstan-bern.ch). Generally, a single entry visa issue is simplified for Switzerland citizens (see <http://mfa.gov.kz/en/bern/content-view/visas-3>), but a double or multiple entry visa issue is based on a letter of invitation by a local Kazakh company, or a branch or representative office of a foreign company, submitted to the Department of Consular Service of the Kazakhstan MFA. The fee for issuing a visa ranges from 90CHF to 1'000CHF. The term for issuance of a visa should not exceed five working days.

LANGUAGES USED FOR BUSINESS

Businessmen of Nur-Sultan and Almaty cities are very familiar with English. However English is not yet a common business language in the regional cities and it is recommended to recruit a Russian speaking interpreter and a Kazakh speaking interpreter in South and West Kazakhstan regions.

PUBLIC HOLIDAYS

There are eight official holidays in Kazakhstan. The minimum paid annual leave is 24 calendar days (excluding official holidays). HEALTH AND INOCULATIONS

The following vaccines are recommended for all travelers to Kazakhstan: Diphtheria, Tetanus, Polio, Measles, Hepatitis A. In special circumstances, the following vaccinations are recommended: Hepatitis B, Typhoid, Rabies, FSME (and SRES). Generally, there is no malaria in the country (there was a case in 2001 in Almaty region). In all cases, it is recommended to protect against mosquito bites. An HIV test and a signed statement from a doctor certifying that the foreigner does not have AIDS are required when the individual plans to be in Kazakhstan for more than three months.

TIME ZONES

Kazakhstan's time zones progress from five hours ahead of Greenwich Mean Time (GMT) in the western part of the country to six hours ahead of GMT in the rest of the regions. Nur-Sultan and Almaty are six hours ahead of GMT and two hours ahead of Moscow. The country does not pass to summertime.

TIME DIFFERENCE BETWEEN SWITZERLAND AND KAZAKHSTAN

Time difference between Switzerland and Kazakhstan is: +4:0 hours between Nur-Sultan and Almaty and Switzerland in summer time and +5:0 hours in winter time. Kazakhstan is 4:0 hours ahead of Switzerland. That means when it is 9:00 a.m. in Bern, Switzerland, it is 1:00 p.m. in Astana, Kazakhstan, in summer time, and it is 2:00 p.m. in winter time.

ELECTRICITY SUPPLY

Electrical sockets (outlets) in Kazakhstan are one of the two European standard electrical socket types: The "Type C" Europlug and the "Type E" and "Type F" Schuko. Electrical sockets usually supply electricity at between 220 volts AC.

METHODS OF PAYMENT

Kazakhstan's currency, the Tenge (KZT), was introduced in 1993. As of January 2020 the prevailing exchange rate was approximately 377.46 KZT / 1 USD, 418.75 KZT / 1 EUR and 387.30 KZT / 1 CHF. All major credit cards are accepted everywhere except the rural zone. Cash can be retrieved in ATM machines in the shopping malls and hotels.

Foreign Exchange: In general, Kazakhstan's foreign currency regulations are not overly restrictive. The Currency Law is the main piece of legislation governing foreign exchange transactions, and currency regulation is generally implemented by the NBK.

Residents: More stringent currency regulations apply to "residents" than to "nonresidents." One of the principal restrictions is that all payments between residents must be in Tenge (with certain limited exceptions). Among other things, residents must deposit any receipts from foreign currency transactions in their accounts maintained at authorized banks and financial institutions in Kazakhstan.

With certain limited exceptions, residents are required to notify the NBK of the following transactions:

- opening bank accounts outside Kazakhstan (this requirement does not apply to individuals);
- acquisitions by residents of securities issued by foreign issuers if the purchase price exceeds 100'000 USD (this requirement does not apply to direct investments, i.e., acquisitions of 10% or more of shares or participatory interests in foreign companies, which require registration with the NBK); and
- acquisitions by nonresidents of securities issued by local issuers if the purchase price exceeds 500'000 USD (except for direct investments, which require registration with the NBK).

Also, residents must register the following transactions with nonresidents with the NBK (with certain limited exceptions) provided that the payment by a nonresident exceeds 500'000 USD or the payment by a resident exceeds 100'000 USD:

- a commercial credit in connection with export and import of goods for a period of more than 180 days;
- a loan for a term exceeding 180 days;
- making a security deposit (for the purposes of currency control rules, security deposits are considered to be loans);
- payment for exclusive intellectual property rights and transfers of money and other property to perform obligations under a joint venture agreement; and
- direct investments, i.e., an acquisition of 10% or more of the shares or participatory interest of legal entities.

Nonresident Legal Entities: For foreign currency purposes, nonresidents include foreign legal entities, their branches and representative offices, as well as all other entities that do not fall under the definition of “residents.” Foreign exchange regulations are substantially less restrictive for these entities, and nonresidents may make payments to their employees in foreign currency.

Individuals: The position of resident individuals is slightly more relaxed than that of resident legal entities. However, individuals cannot make payments for business-related transactions without establishing an account with an authorized local bank. Resident and nonresident individuals may purchase foreign currency on the domestic foreign currency market without limitation. Residents and nonresidents importing or exporting foreign or local currency (cash) in excess of 10'000 USD (or the equivalent thereof) must submit a customs declaration for the entire amount of money being imported/exported. This requirement does not apply to import/export of cash within the territory of the Customs Union, i.e., within the territories of Kazakhstan, Russia, Belarus, Armenia and Kirghizstan. In other words, residents and nonresidents may import cash from Russia and Belarus into Kazakhstan, as well export it from Kazakhstan to Russia and Belarus, without any limitation and without submitting a customs declaration. Residents and nonresidents may import goods, the customs value of which exceed 10'000 EUR and/or the total weight of which exceeds 50 kg.

TRANSPORTATION

BY AIR

A number of international airlines (Lufthansa, Turkish Airlines, Aeroflot, WizzAir, Ukrainian International Airlines, BelAvia, LOT, etc.) have regular connection to Almaty and Astana. Air Astana is the main domestic airline. It serves a significant portion of Kazakhstan's international (to/from Europe: Frankfurt/Main and Paris) and domestic passenger flights. Air Astana operates a fleet of approximately 30 aircraft including Boeings 737, 757 and 767, the Airbus A320/A321 and Embraer 190.

BY SEA

Kazakhstan's major ports are the cities of Aktau and Atyrau on the Caspian Sea and the Irtys River ports of Oskemen, Pavlodar and Semey, which serve the northeastern industrial sector.

BY ROAD

Kazakhstan has approximately 148'000 kilometers of public roads. In the last years more than 7500 km of main roads were reconstructed, including the new transport connection Western China – Western Europe (Russian border – Aktobe – Kyzylorda – Shymkent – Taraz – Almaty – Khorgos/ China border) which will be the main road for the cargo transit from China to Europe (2787 km). The major transport artery is still the 1'241 kilometer road between Nur-Sultan and Almaty. With assistance from the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development, an important highway is being completed along the Caspian coast between Turkmenbashi in Turkmenistan and Astrakhan in Russia, serving Kazakhstan's western oil outposts. There are 46 road crossings on the border with Russia, seven each on the borders with Kyrgyzstan and Uzbekistan and six on the border with China.

BY RAIL

Kazakhstan has approximately 14'800 kilometers of rail lines. Since its Independence Kazakhstan has constructed more than 1700 km of new rail roads. A high priority is construction of a shorter rail route across Kazakhstan to link western China with Russia. Construction of the railroad "Zhetygen-Korgos" is a key transport industry projects to connect Kazakhstan and China. The length of the railway is approximately 300 km.

TIPS FOR INITIATING BUSINESS CONTACTS

The meetings, conferences and forums organized by American Chamber of Commerce (AmCham), European Business Association of Kazakhstan (EUROBAK), Association des Cercles Français d'Affaires au Kazakhstan (ACFAK) and German Chamber of Commerce (IHK) are the most popular events to get in touch with business environment and to launch business contacts in Nur-Sultan and Almaty. In addition, visiting exhibitions, conferences and forums organized with State support (e.g. Astana Economic Forum to hold on May every year, in 2020, it will be coincided with WTO conference in June) and by the External Trade Chamber of the National Chamber of Entrepreneurs "Atameken" will give a good opportunity to meet local business partners. Swiss Trade Point Kazakhstan opened on January 1, 2016, at the Embassy of the Switzerland in Astana, will assist you to contact your partners and develop your business in Kazakhstan.

BUSINESS PRACTICES

Setting up business relations with local partners is a long term process. However, it is advisable to have direct contacts with potential business partners, which means that a Swiss company has to invest its time and efforts in the relations and visit potential business partners/distributors (not only to develop the cooperation, but also afterwards to check whether the local partner lives up to agreements). Additionally, an appropriate and thorough due diligence on a potential business partner can minimize the risk of failure as well as can help to manage your future expectations.

It is forbidden to pay and receive. It is advisable to double check on company's documents; for example, all certificates, permits, etc. should be obtained in advance for the customs purposes, etc.

Sometimes registration and certification procedures can take some time (up to 1.5-2 months) and efforts. Therefore, Swiss companies must be prepared to do it themselves or better to delegate it to a professional company, which has an extensive experience in dealing with local authorities and in registering/obtaining certificates for similar products.

Some Kazakh SME do not yet have Internet access and do not use emails as a means of communication. They prefer to receive official letters (written on the company letterhead) either by fax or by normal post.
